Green honeycomb restrictor

Blue honeycomb restrictor

1. When there is no splashing phenomenon in the toilet as shown in Figure 1, there is no need to assemble this honeycomb restrictor, and three honeycomb restrictor are thrown away directly.
2. When the toilet splashes as shown in Figure 1, please test the water following the below steps:
 - a. First assemble the light grey honeycomb restrictor to test the water. If the toilet no longer splashes after flushing, use this honeycomb restrictor and throw away the green and blue honeycomb restrictors.
 - b. When the toilet still splashes water after installing the light grey honeycomb restrictor, use the green honeycomb restrictor to test the water. If the toilet no longer splashes after flushing, choose this honeycomb restrictor and throw away the light grey and blue honeycomb restrictor.
 - c. When the toilet still splashes after the green honeycomb restrictor is installed, use the blue honeycomb restrictor to test the water. If the toilet no longer splashes after flushing, use this honeycomb restrictor and throw away the light grey and green honeycomb restrictors.
